TH2DESIGNS

Founders of Th2 Designs Gail Taylor and Sheila El-Hadery sum up their style as 'relaxed luxury'. Diverse projects range from designing 40 apartments for a high-end private rental scheme in W1 ('these are aspirational spaces that reflect the demand in the London property market for luxury homes to rent') to a penthouse in the South of France. 'As well as looking good, an interior has to feel comfortable and welcoming,' says Gail. 'Our interiors are often described as being calm and peaceful, which comes from really considering how a space is to be used at the outset and, primarily thinking about hidden storage so that excess clutter can be tucked away.'

Multi-functional interconnected spaces with hidden sliding doors have become a signature, alongside soft palettes and natural materials. The studio also recently completed two show apartments in Battersea Power Station. 'It was a privilege to work in one of the capital's most recognised landmarks and a good example of where we were able to reflect the architecture, designing an urban space with vintage touches.'
